
New FOrum Software?

Posted by Taiko! - 2008/04/25 19:04

Looking at getting some new forum software. For me, the forums are slow and might have trouble handling the larger traffic our site will get in the future. I'm thinking of PHPBB, although SMF has been used here before and folks have been happy with it.

Hey bud, responded to you over at my site. If you're lookin at using phpbb, a branch off of rockettheme, they focus 100% on a phpbb bridge @ <http://www.rocketwerx.com>.

To give you a heads up on SMF. Bridges are no longer supported for Joomla. Joomla has decided that the SMF bridge does not comply with their GPL license, leaving no access between the two. You would have to have dual logins for your site and boards. That's the problem I ran into.
