
Request

Posted by Throne - 2008/04/17 13:20

You guys seem to have the same dorona brown template I am using for my site. I'm trying to get my link font color to show the red, just like yours, but instead it's showing a very light tan that blends in to the rest of the template to where you can barely see them.

Unfortunately, the bestofjoomla site seems to be down right now and I'm not finding any help there anyway. Could you guys send me a copy of the forum.css text to me?

Any help would certainly be appreciated!

=====

Re:Request

Posted by Taiko! - 2008/04/22 17:12

Hi Throne,

Using me forum.css will not help your case. The CSS for the text links uses your main templates CSS, not the forums. Download the webdeveloper tool bar for either IE or FF and hover over the link to see which element it is and than add the elements coding into your forums css file. If you can see, the linkable items in our forums are the same hex as those on other pages.

=====